How To Count Your Window Panes

A pane is simply a piece of glass that you can run your finger across without stopping. If you can run your finger all the way from the top edge to the opposing bottom edge without being stopped or crossing a ridge, it's one pane. This rule applies to any pane regardless of how large or small it is. Ignore lines or grids inside of the glass if the outside glass surface is smooth.

A big picture window is just one pane. We're not concerned with the type of window, just how many panes. Sliding glass doors are typically one or two large panes.

Storm windows and French Panes are counted differently, and we'll help you with those. We will clean the vertical panes of glass on either side of your front door for free. We will clean these glass surfaces as part of your package since they often have unique characteristics and we don't include them.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact us. Once you have your pane count, you can fill out the online estimate form or give us a call to schedule your window cleaning! We will reply with a sheet with all of our packages with perfectly accurate prices.

On the day of your appointment, one of our team members will walk around the exterior of the house to make sure that the count is right. If you're off by a few, don't worry about it. If there are any windows you do want to skip (maybe basement or garage windows), just leave them out of your count.
